

ABSTRACT

The Economic reuse of steel slag through its inertization (aeration and hydration), makes possible the inertization of this slag, as well as its reuse on road paving, now that its volumetric expansion is reduced to levels that do not compromise the structure and quality of these pavements.